POPULISTS' MISTAKE

Bryan's Supporters Not Pleased with Their Work.

TEXAS MEN WILL NOT BOLT

National Committee Finishes Its Work—Mr. Bryan Deluged with Correspondence—Senator Jones in Conference at Lincoln.

St. Louis, July 27.—The nomination of Bryan late Saturday afternoon by the people's party after another day of turmoil has demonstrated what has been known here from the start, and that was that there were forces enough at work to insure Bryan's nomination at any time. Senator Jones, Gov. Stone, and Senator Stewart of Nevada are displeased over the turn that affairs have taken. They labored for a nomination or endorsement of the Chicago ticket. Senator Jones, as chairman of the democratic national committee, feels very much cut up over the situation, and Senator Stewart and other warm friends of Bryan declare with more than ordinary positiveness that the populists have mangled the Chicago ticket. There was just a show of a bolt a moment after Chairman Allen announced the vote which nominated Bryan. The Texas members were seen to pick up their hats with the intention of leaving the hall. Instantly they were surrounded by delegates from other states, and in two or three minutes they put down their hats again, and everything seemed harmonious. Ex-Gov. Gibbs was asked whether the Texas men would bolt the nomination, and he said: "No, there won't be any bolt, but Bryan has got to stand on our platform. If he does not stand on our platform, then Texas will have a separate set of electors who will vote for a candidate for president."

National Committee.

St. Louis, July 27.—The populist national committee finished its work at an early hour Sunday morning. J. A. Edperton of Nebraska was elected secretary and M. C. Rankin of Indiana treasurer. J. A. Sovereign of Arkansas, C. F. Taylor of Pennsylvania, H. W. Reed of Georgia, Frank Burkitt of Mississippi, G. F. Washburn of Massachusetts and J. W. Breidenthal of Kansas were selected for members of the executive committee. Mr. Burkitt resigned, and on his motion J. S. Dore of California was placed on the ticket in his place. Mr. Burkitt did this to give the Pacific coast representation on the executive committee. The committee adjourned subject to the call of the chair.

JONES AT LINCOLN.

The Arkansas Senator in Earnest Conference with Mr. Bryan.

Lincoln, Neb., July 27.—Senator Jones of Arkansas arrived in Lincoln last evening and was immediately driven to the residence of Mr. Bryan, where an earnest conference was held on subjects of much importance to the democratic and populistic parties. In spite of its importance as a political centre, having two candidates for the presidency—Mr. Bryan and Mr. Beatley, the prohibitionist's nominee—as citizens, Lincoln is a very quiet place these days. Mr. Bryan has been seen little by Lincoln people since he reached here a week ago. He spends most of his time in his library going over the mass of mail matter and the packages of telegrams delivered to his residence every day and dictating replies to his corps of assistants. Of these he has three, one a lady, and they each have their hands full in keeping up with the nominee's correspondence. So great has been the avalanche of written matter addressed to Mr. Bryan that he is practically swamped and many of the letters and telegrams that were sent immediately after his nomination have not yet been answered. The Bryan and Sewall headquarters at the Lincoln hotel are intended principally for the use of Mr. Bryan in receiving delegations and conferring with democratic managers. Mr. Bryan has used them two or three times only, but with the national silver and populist conventions added it is expected that he will be obliged to go there more frequently. A meeting of state central committee of the democratic party of Nebraska will be held in the Lincoln hotel in this city on July 30. Mr. Bryan has promised to be present.

Will Leave It to the People.

Senator Jones left Lincoln on a late train over the Missouri Pacific last night for his summer home. He wired Gov. Stone of Missouri to meet him at Jefferson City to-day. Just before leaving Senator Jones said he would leave it to the common sense of the people to right the nomination of Watson. No definite action, he said, would be taken at this time with regard to the acceptance or declination of the populist nomination by Mr. Byran. Senator Jones added that he thought the notification meeting in New York would take place August 10.

Massachusetts Democratic Convention.

Boston, July 27.—At a meeting of the democratic state central committee it was decided to hold the state convention on Sept. 24 in Music hall, this city.

ARMES DIVORCE CASE.

Cause of the Sequestration of the Bellicose Washington Major's Property.

Washington, July 27.—Maj. George A. Armes, whose property was sequestrated Saturday by order of Judge Hagner because of his failure to comply with the order of the court directing him to pay alimony to his wife, who is suing him for divorce on the ground of cruelty, has been in trouble with the war department several times. He was court-martialed for insulting Gen. Hastings of Pennsylvania at President Harrison's inauguration. On the day of Gen. Schofield's retirement Armes was arrested, taken from his home and confined in the barracks for disrespect to Gen. Schofield, then acting secretary of war. Armes is now somewhere on the St. Lawrence, avoiding an order of commitment, and has written a violent letter to his son vilifying the attorneys in the divorce case. Upon this showing by counsel for Mrs. Armes and because of the inability of the court to enforce its order in any other way, Judge Hagner issued the order of sequestration and appointed Peyton Gordon as sequestrator, with power to take charge of Armes' property, valued at $250,000, collect and disburse rents, make sales, and pay the alimony awarded by the court. There have been but few cases of this sort in the United States. Meantime the suit for divorce is proceeding. Maj. Armes says he will not return to the jurisdiction of the court while the order of commitment for contempt of court stands against him.

THOS. A. JEROME DEAD.

Member of That Well Known Family Expires at Brighton, S. I.

Quarantine, S. I., July 27.—Thomas Atwater Jerome died at New Brighton, S. I., yesterday of acute gastritis in his 57th year. He belonged to the well known Jerome family was next to the oldest of a family of nine children. His brothers were the late Lawrence, Leonard and Addison C. Jerome, all well known club-men and men about town. Mr. Jerome had been in poor health for a year past, and was spending the summer with his family at New Brighton when he was stricken down with gastritis. He married Miss Emma Vanderbilt, and they celebrated their golden wedding eight years ago. A widow and six children survive him. Mr. Jerome held a position in the custom house for many years past. He was a man of charming personality and was noted for his liberal nature and genial disposition.

DR. JAMESON'S RAID.

The Cape Parliament Says That Cecil Rhodes Knew It Was Coming.

Cape Town, July 27.—The Cape parliament has unanimously adopted the majority report of the committee which was appointed to investigate the circumstances of the invasion of the Transvaal by Dr. Jameson and his followers last winter. The report declares that Cecil Rhodes, who was at the time prime minister of Cape Colony, was aware of the intentions of Dr. Jameson but that the London directors of the British South Africa company were not, though they ought to have had their suspicions aroused, secretly that the company was being drawn upon for large sums of money, ostensibly for purposes of flotation, but really to defray the expenses of preparing for and conducting a revolution.

WRECKED ON SABLE ISLAND.

Twelve Men Rescued from a Bark That Grounded on the Sand Bars.

Halifax, N. S., July 27.—The Dominion government steamer Newfield has arrived here with the crew of a vessel that had been lost on Sable island since the Newfield's previous visit to "the graveyard of the Atlantic," as Sable island is called. The crew consists of twelve men of the Italian bark Raphael D., which grounded on the sand bars off the island during a gale, and was totally wrecked. The crew reached the island in the ship's boats after a thrilling experience, narrowly escaping drowning several times. The Raphael D. was on a voyage from Genoa for Bathurst, N. B., in ballast to load with lumber.

NIHILISM THE SPECTRE.

Proposed Visit of the Czar to European Capitals Becoming Very Uncertain.

St. Petersburg, July 27.—The dates of the czar's proposed visits to the principal continental capitals, if, indeed, they have been fixed, are being kept very dark. Announcements have been made that his intended trip is becoming more uncertain daily and Nihilism seems to be the spectre which is standing in his majesty's way. All that is known of his intentions is that it is his purpose to visit Vienna and Berlin, and probably Paris, but when the visits will take place it is impossible to say.

China's Compliment to the Powers.

Berlin, July 27.—Since the visit of Li Hung Chang to Berlin it has become known that it is the intention of the government at Pekin to reorganize the various Chinese legations and raise the rank of the Chinese representatives at Berlin, Vienna and Rome to that of special envoy.

MACEDONIAN REVOLT

Greece Permits Armed Rebels To Cross the Frontier.

TURKISH TROOPS CUT TO PIECES

The Sultan's Soldiers Threaten To Revolt Because of Poor Rations and No Pay—Numerous Atrocities at Monaster.

Berlin, July 27.—Count Goluchowski, Austrian minister of foreign affairs, returned to Ischel for the purpose of holding an interview with Emperor Francis Joseph after having had a conference with Prince Hohenlohe, the German chancellor, at the latter's chateau at Alt-Aussee, and reached Vienna on Thursday. On the day of his return to Vienna Count Goluchowski had an interview with Count Nigra, the Italian ambassador to Austria, and since then Count Nigra has been summoned to Rome by the Marquis Visconti-Venosta, the Italian minister of foreign affairs. These comings and goings of diplomatic chiefs cannot be attributed to any other cause than the gravity of the situation in the east. A concert of the powers has failed to effect any good results as has already been stated, and the events which are now taking place completely overwhelm diplomacy. According to telegraphic advices received here the rising of the insurgents in Macedonia has become extremely formidable. Greece, while pretending to take stringent measures against any persons engaging in a raid upon the Macedonia frontier, has allowed upwards of 600 men, all of them armed with Lebel rifles, to enter Macedonia from Greek territory. These men after surprising and cutting to pieces the Turkish troops at Moussa, succeeded in repulsing a strong force of Turkish soldiers which had been sent from Salonica to reinforce the Moussa troops.

Hard Fighting in Macedonia.

A dispatch from Constantinople says that the Turkish reserves who have been called out by the sultan are showing a disposition to revolt in consequence of the fact that their pay is very much in arrears and the rations which are being issued to them are poor in quality and small in quantity. A special dispatch from Salonica says that the statements made by the Turkish officials concerning the situation are all calculated to conceal the desperate condition of affairs in Macedonia. Hard fighting is going on almost every day at Drumnitza, Serres and all points in the Perim mountains. The Turkish reserves at Prizrend, Freshtima and elsewhere in that section are being equipped and sent to the front as rapidly as possible, and it is estimated that the total number of Turkish troops concentrated on the Macedonian and Bulgarian frontiers exceeds 7,000 men. Even this force, however, has not been found sufficient to make any headway against the insurrection, which, under the influence of the successes already achieved by the insurgents in the field, is becoming stronger every day. Stimulated by these and similar reports, semi-official newspaper organs like the North German Gazette and the Cologne Gazette are taking a more definite tone in their articles commenting upon the situation. The North German Gazette reproduces an article from the Cologne Gazette which declares that, unless the powers interfere in an energetic way instead of submitting proposals to the porte, the troubles in Macedonia and Crete will never end.

Appeals for Interference.

The Reichsbote (conservative) publishes a letter written by a German army living at Monaster, wherein the writer narrates atrocities which are practiced there every day without the slightest attempt at interference on the part of the authorities. This letter has stirred up a strong feeling of private indignation here, more, in fact, than the remoter massacres and outrages in Armenia. The Reichsbote in an article accompanying the letter appeals to the powers to cease their jealousies and interfere in behalf of the Macedonians and Cretans in the interests of humanity. The Bismarckian organs, on the other hand, are strongly opposed to any policy of interference on the part of Germany. The Neueste Nachrichten declares in their agreement to maintain Turkish rule in Crete and Macedonia which the insurgents are trying to shake off. If they continue their efforts to throw off the Turkish yoke, the paper adds, they must suffer the consequences. Europe must not stake the peace of the world on their account.

Trouble in a Foresters' Lodge.

Waterbury, Conn., July 27.—Twenty-one members of court Abraham Lincoln, Ancient Order of Foresters, have placed a $5,000 attachment on the money of officers of the court and have also attached $1,000 funds of the court in the bank. It is alleged that the officers have mismanaged the affairs of the court and have refused to make a statement of the finances. The row is the outcome of a split in the court over the question whether or not beer should be served in the lodge room at meetings.

OUTLINING THE WORK

Major McKinley Has an Extended Conference With Hanna.

MANY MATTERS DEMAND ATTENTION

Considering the Possibility of Another Democratic Ticket—Letter of Acceptance May Be Completed Within the Next Fortnight.

Cleveland, July 27.—Major McKinley and Mark Hanna, chairman of the republican national committee, were in conference most of yesterday and last evening at Mr. Hanna's beautiful suburban home on the lake side. Major McKinley returned from Canton Saturday evening and was at once driven to Mr. Hanna's home. Although Major McKinley had been in Cleveland most of the week and had been a guest all of that time at Mr. Hanna's house, the candidate and his manager have had no opportunity to discuss the forthcoming campaign. Major McKinley said this morning: "I came back to Cleveland because my engagements during the centennial exercises made it impossible for me to have a full and satisfactory talk with Mr. Hanna about the campaign and its management. Indeed, we have had but one extended talk since my nomination, and now I find there are scores of matters which demand attention and discussion with Mr. Hanna." The campaign has been outlined in a general way only by Mr. Hanna and his committee. They do not know what turn affairs may take in reference to another democratic ticket, and of necessity their actions are somewhat limited in scope and significance by the imperfectly developed situation which confronts them.

Senator Sherman's Views.

Senator Sherman, who was here two or three days last week to participate in the centennial exercises, is somewhat alarmed at the manifestation of the silver sentiment in certain sections and communities. He told Major McKinley that his voluminous correspondence was laden with inquiries about the money question, and that he was of the opinion that most active measures to combat the silver sentiment should be taken at once. He urged both Mr. Hanna and Major McKinley to have the speaking campaign begin immediately, and said he was ready and willing to take the stump at a moment's notice. Other republicans, such as Senator Hawley and ex-Gov. Merriam of Minnesota, have expressed themselves in much the same manner to both Major McKinley and Mr. Hanna, and the two latter have reached the conclusion that the best results this year will be attained by holding a large, indeed an unusually large, number of political meetings. It is believed that it will be difficult to get people to read heavy congressional speeches on the money question or other long documents. On the other hand, there is abundant evidence of a lively demand for clear, crisp, simple talks on the money question and for short articles and leaflets bearing upon it.

McKinley's Letter of Acceptance.

In short, this year the committees of both parties will undoubtedly spend their money to keep hundreds of speakers in the field instead of sending out millions of documents, as has frequently been done. Major McKinley and Mr. Hanna are of one mind upon this point, and the necessary orders to the clerk in charge of this work will be given out at once. When Major McKinley settles down in Canton again this week he will begin to think seriously about his letter of acceptance. He expects to begin work on it within ten days and may have a draft of it completed within a fortnight. It is not his intention to make it public for a month or so, however.

An Important Utterance.

He wants to see what turn events will take and needs something to determine the ultimate cast which he shall give to the issues of the campaign. The letter of acceptance will be a sort of final supplementary, up-to-date platform, and the great work of the campaign will be done on the lines which it indicates. Major McKinley will prepare this document with great care and it will be one of the most important utterances of the campaign.

Denounced Populists as Anarchists.

Asbury Park, N. J., July 25.—At the natinal service in the Asbury Park auditorium yesterday afternoon Bishop John P. Newman created a sensation by declaring that populists were no better than anarchists and were not good American citizens. Instantly a man in the rear of the hall jumped up and shouted, "Bryan is a good American." He tried to propose three cheers for the democratic-populist candidate for president, but was drowned by the music of the choir.

British Bark Ashore.

London, July 2.—The British bark Haldon Hall, from Manila for London, is ashore near Cape Agulhas, Africa, and in a dangerous position.

JOSE MACEO IS DEAD.

Killed on the Field While Fighting for Cuban Freedom.

New York, July 27.—Gen. Calixto Garcia, commander of the patriot forces in eastern Cuba, writes to the Cuban delegate in this city under date of July 13 that Gen. Jose Maceo of the First army corps was killed on July 5 in the engagement at Lama del Gato. This engagement was a bloody one. The patriots occupied a very strong position on the Gato hill, and were attacked by the Spaniards under Cols. Alberti and Luis Varo del Rey. After an engagement of more than eight hours the Spaniards were compelled to retreat. They had 150 wounded to attend to, besides a considerable number of dead. The patriots lost Gen. Jose Maceo, Col. Cartagena, Dr. Pedro Echevarria, and seven others, and had forty-one wounded. "Jose Maceo," Gen. Garcia writes, "met with a glorious death. Regrettable as this is, our enthusiasm will not for a moment abate, nor will the power of the revolution diminish. Our friend will be remembered by his comrades with grief; by his soldiers with love and respect, and our country, once freed, will attach due honor to his name."

THE IRISH CONVENTION.

It Is Likely to Heal the Schisms and Revive Home Rule.

London, July 27.—The Irish national convention, which opens in Dublin on Sept. 1, is shaping toward a great historical gathering. Throughout Ireland and the populous centers of England and Scotland the nationalist societies are appointing delegates and discussing the probable platform of the convention with the heartiest enthusiasm. Advices from South Africa and Australia are like those from the United States and Canada. From every quarter of the globe where a nucleus of Irishmen can be found sufficient to form an association, delegates are coming. The convention will not only represent the mass of the Irish race, but will also have besides a working leverage of money towards the organization of a great United party. That the convention will heal existing schisms and regenerate home rule seems assured. Mr. Healy and his followers will be present at the convention as friends to its aims. Outside of the English press no one yet credits Mr. Redmond and his section with any desire or design to thwart this great national movement.

CHICAGO'S "HOLD-UPS."

One Attempt Unsuccessful — Another Yields $15 and a Gold Watch.

Chicago, July 27.—Shortly after 8 o'clock Saturday night store hold-up No. 21 took place, when two young men entered the jewelry store of C. M. Robertson on North Clark street and asked to be shown several pieces of jewelry, which they endeavored to pocket. Mr Robertson got the drop on his visitors and, locking the door to prevent their escape, held them at bay with a revolver until the police came to his assistance. At the police station the police claimed to recognize one of them as a tough character. Store hold-up No. 22 was successfully carried out an hour or so later when the "Long" and the "Short" combination entered the grocery store of James O'Reilly on Morgan street, and, while one man held a revolver to O'Reilly's head and robbed him of his gold watch, the other took $15 out of the money drawer, and then both men escaped in the darkness.

CATHOLIC SUMMER SCHOOL.

Programme for the Third Week of the Fifth Annual Session.

Plattsburgh N. Y., July 27.—The third week of the fifth annual session of the Catholic summer school of America opened yesterday with pontifical high mass, Right Rev. John M. Farler, D. D., of New York, being the celebrant. The sermon was by Very Rev. William Byrne of Boston; subject, "God as Creator." The lectures for the coming week will be "History of English Literature from Chaucer to Spencer," by Rev. Hugh T. Henry of Overbrook seminary; "Beginnings of Metaphysics," Rev J. A. Doonans, S. J., Boston college, and the "Beginnings of Christian Art," by Prof T. J. Shahan, D. D., of the Catholic university of Washington. The attendance is now greater than ever before, a large party arriving from New York Saturday evening.

THE SITUATION SERIOUS.

Views of a London Banker on Our Presidential Election.

London, July 27.—The Daily News to-day publishes a report of an interview with J. H. Tritton, a prominent London banker, regarding the chances of the election of the presidential candidates in the United States, in which Mr. Tritton says he considers it improbable that Bryan will be elected, but that the situation is one of the most serious character. Confidence, Mr. Tritton believes, will not be restored here until the United States congress shall have passed a resolution declaring that it is firmly determined to maintain a gold standard. Certainly, says Mr. Tritton, the national finances of America need to be overhauled. The country is suffering from a plethora of paper money.

APPEAL FOR MELTON

Olney Petitioned in the Correspondent's Behalf.

CONFINED IN A CUBAN DUNGEON

Alleged That a Leper Has Been Thrown into the Cell with the Unfortunate Competitor Captive — Horrors of His Position Set Forth.

Jacksonville, Fla., July 26.—A determined effort is being made to induce the United States to secure the release of Ora Melton, who was captured on the Competitor, and who is the young American now confined by the Spaniards in Fort Cabanas. The citizens of Key West and Florida generally are aroused and demand that this government shall do something to relieve him. The people of Key West have petitioned Secretary Olney to act, and they forwarded this petition to T. T. Stockton, general manager of the Times-Union, for transmission to Washington. With the petition Mr. Stockton includes a letter to the secretary of state, saying:

Appeal for Melton.

"I feel deep interest in Melton, as he went to Cuba as the correspondent of the Times-Union. He had no intention of serving in the army of the insurgents, but simply desired to get within their lines to furnish reliable news as to the situation in Cuba. I furnished the young man credentials as the representative of the Times-Union, and those credentials he should have had on his person when arrested by the Spaniards. Under these circumstances it seems to be very hard for Melton to be compelled first to undergo the mental torture caused by a death sentence and then, that sentence having been suspended, to endure for months the horrors of an overcrowded Spanish prison. I do not see that he was more culpable than Artist Dawley of Harper's Weekly or the correspondents of the New York papers, who fell under the displeasure of the Spaniards and were arrested. The correspondents were promptly released on protest by the government, but Melton is allowed to remain immured in a dungeon with criminals and lepers, and his release seems as far in the future as when he was first arrested."

Captured on the Competitor.

Mr. Stockton also says he has "reliable information from Havana that unless he is released or his condition ameliorated he cannot live. If Melton is to be allowed to die by inches in a foul cell it would have been merciful to have permitted the Spaniards to carry out the sentence of the court martial and shoot him to death after he was captured." The statement and petition recite to Secretary Olney, it will be remembered, that Ora Melton went to Cuba on the ill-fated schooner Competitor as a representative of the Times-Union, was arrested aboard that vessel when she was captured by a Spanish cruiser after having landed an expedition on the north coast under command of Col. Monzon. The crew of the schooner were also apprehended and taken to Havana, where they were subsequently tried by a drumhead court-martial and sentenced to be shot for piracy. An energetic protest made by the late Consul-General Williams, under instructions from Washington, secured a temporary reprieve for the prisoners and the case, which assumed the character of an international complication, threatening at the time to involve the United States in war with Spain, was referred to Madrid for revision.

Leper in the Cell with Him.

"The Spanish home government," continues the petition, "has since ordered a new trial for the prisoners by the civil courts, as provided by the terms of the protocol and treaty stipulations, but like all official matters on the island of Cuba, the trial may be put off indefinitely through red tapeism. Meanwhile Melton, with the other prisoners captured on the Competitor, is confined in the military fortress of Cabanas, at the entrance to Havana harbor, in a little dark cell, reeking with filth and vermin, and, as it to add to the horror of their situation, a drain runs through the room, breeding pestilence and death. Twenty other prisoners, of all colors and nationalities, and accused of every crime in the decalogue, are also huddled together within the narrow confines of the cell, and, if reports received here lately are correct, a leper has been thrown into the dungeon to increase the diseases of the other prisoners."

To Be Retired To-day.

Washington, July 27. — Having reached the age limit Gen. Richard N. Batcheder, quartermaster general of the regular army, will be retired to-day. Among the more prominent officers who are spoken of as his successor are Col. G. H. Weeks, James M. Moore, Charles G. Sawtelle and Marshall T. Ludington.

The Peary Party All Well.

St. John's, N. F., July 27.—The Peary expedition steamer Hope passed Battle harbor, straits of Belle Isle, on July 6 bound north. She reported all well.

BULUWAYO.

Two Years Ago a Matabele Kraal, It Now Has Clubs and Hotels.

Buluwayo has become unexpectedly, and through no desire on its part, the center of unusual interest to all British people. A little more than two years ago it was the chief kraal of old Lobengula and his dusky warriors. Then the irrepressible Britisher stepped in, claimed it for his own, and fashioned and modeled it into the semblance of a motherland township, with most of the concomitants that go to make up a civilized community. Now we are alarmed with the news that the Matabeles have risen in force, and are irresistibly reminded of the struggles in the earlier part of this century between the white pioneers and the Kaffirs.

No better idea of the position occupied by Buluwayo to-day could be obtained than by a glance through the columns of its papers. The Buluwayo Chronicle is a well-printed eight-page journal, published twice weekly, and containing a brave show of advertisements as a testimony to the enterprise of the settlers. Already the editor finds cause to chasten: "There are various events occurring in Buluwayo which denote the transition of the town from the rough-and-ready period to that of the settled stage. Men are more careful in their dress, and the age of starched shirts and dress suits has arrived. The free and careless order is relegated to the old, obstinate pioneers, who will not change. But, if the change has its good side, it has also its reverse, for there is not the dependence on the word that there was in other times. The lawyers are more busy, and the reading of this or that clause is now contested, and a judicial decision obtained, where previously the spirit in which the contract was entered into was religiously acted up to."

What right has dress clothes in this recital? And what connection has starched shirts with an indifference to one's word? Is it the advent of the lawyers, who, unlike their English brethren, are not above advertising their presence? Litigation would be difficult without these gentry. And what has Buluwayo to do with dress clothes? Do they dine there at a fashionable hour, or are the young exquisites preparing for the opening of the new opera house, which is to be erected by a company with a capital of £30,000? This opera house is to have an "elegant exterior," seating accommodation for 800, and to be lighted by electricity. Modernity with a vengeance in old Lobengula's Buluwayo.

Buluwayo, too, has its club, a number of hotels, a stock exchange (as a matter of course), a building society on mutual principles, a chamber of commerce, a circuit court, a polo club and a lodge of Free Masons. True, a remnant of primitive habits, dating from two years ago, survives here and there. What shall we say, for instance, of the stubborn old pioneers who persist in turning their horses adrift in Eighth avenue to take their way back unattended to the stables? No wonder our editor calls it an "extraordinary pastime." The thing couldn't be done in London. Buluwayo must put a stop to it.

One piece of gratifying news is that the Buluwayo Laundry company "went through swimmingly, being large oversubscribed." Buluwayo will now have the opportunity of getting decently clean shirts. This is, we repeat, gratifying. Dress clothes would look strange without the complement of starched shirts. Then one finds innumerable other instances of the progress of Buluwayo. Some one has become bankrupt there, or gone into liquidation, and a shopkeeper is already holding a clearance sale at which enormous bargains are to be had. The Wesleyans have built a new church on Ninth avenue, and had a conversazione to celebrate the event. Suburban resorts, too, are springing into existence, a certain gentleman having taken the Welsh Harp hotel, at the Umgusa river, six miles out, with the intention of making it a popular place for shooting matches (pigeons, not lions), cricket, tennis and other essentially British sports.

English farmers will turn green with envy on reading the prices paid for produce in Buluwayo. Butter realizes from 7 shillings to 13 shillings 6 pence per pound. Eggs are to be had for modest little sums varying from 8 shillings 6 pence to 12 shillings per dozen, though this is somewhat difficult of comprehension, when fowls are only worth from 3 shillings 6 pence to 6 shillings each. Do not the hens lay in Matabeleland? And if they do not, whence come the fowls? Cabbage, too, is at a premium, being worth from 2 shillings to 4 shillings a piece each. Really the people of Buluwayo dispense with butter, eggs and cabbage, as superfluous luxuries, unless they are all legitimately wealthy.

And now, like a bolt from the blue, we read of Buluwayo being in danger it itself from the man who once owned the land—an unpleasant reminder that savages can't be suffocated and civilized in a day.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Gold Ring in a Turtle Shell.

The assistant agent at the Adams Express office in Washington, D., while assisting in placing a salt sea turtle weighing 250 pounds in the fish pond at the Washington cemetery lately found imbedded in the shell of the creature a broad gold ring, with a brilliant set just under the shell of the creature. It had evidently become lodged under the shell while the turtle was in the sea, and no doubt was the property of some unfortunate traveler. Some think it would be profitable to dissect the turtle for other valuable jewelry.—Chicago Chronicle.

FAINTING IS NOT FASHIONABLE.

Hysterical Women Will Be Compelled to Loosen Their Corsets Somewhat.

"Yes, there was a time when a woman could faint whenever she took a notion," said the doctor. "It was a form of hysteria and was largely due to tight lacing. There seemed to be something fascinating to the average woman in losing consciousness at certain times. She never dreamed of fainting in the quiet of her own room. No, indeed. She waited until she got to the theater or church or at a ball or reception. It was only the fashionable women who had nothing to do and took no exercise. Workingwomen had no time to get hysterical. You take a woman to-day and let her live very high, take no exercise, get little sleep and squeeze a 25-inch waist into a 17 or 18-inch corset and in three months she will be in such a hysterical state that the slightest thing will upset her so that she will become insensible. Fainting did not go out of style until the wasp waist had had its day. A revolution in corsets worked wonders for women, and it is due to two things. American women to-day display more common sense in the matter of dressing than they ever did before, and they take more interest in physical development. I haven't seen a woman faint before in two years. Common sense is a prevailing commodity among the women, old and young, of to-day."

"Tight lacing was at the bottom of my fainting," volunteered the matron, rubbing down her pretty waist, "and, for my part, I think it was the real root of the evil. Ten years ago women certainly laced. No. 17 corsets were sold in great quantities then; now that number is extinct, and my corset-maker tells me that she never has a call for an 18 except when some little being comes in and has one made to order."

"What is the average number now?" asked the college boy, with as much interest as a girl would display.

"Number 25," was the reply.

"Twenty and 22 are considered small, and she has one customer who boasts a waist that is an even yard, and her figure is magnificent, too. She carries herself like a queen. Corsets used to be straighter in line than now, and you men should be thankful that you never knew the agony of being bound up in one. They are now cut with curves, so as to give room for the lungs, heart and liver, and if they are laced a little tight at the waist the wearer doesn't feel any discomfort. The stomach also has absolute freedom in a properly-constructed corset, and there is no pressure across the kidneys, as formerly. Nothing will cause a woman to faint quicker than having a steady pressure on the stomach. Why, I've known women who couldn't keep their corsets on more than three hours at a time in the old days."

"Corsets were evidently built stronger than they are now," remarked the young woman, "and I am sure none of these fainters were educated at my college."

"Yes, to both questions, but it was before physical culture and athletics came into vogue for women. The corsets used to be perfect armors. They were exceedingly heavy and almost as stiff as steel."

"Not many women wear stays nowdays, I believe," modestly ventured the young man.

"Oh, yes," spoke up the young woman. "That is altogether a mistaken idea. There are very few women who do not wear stays, and, indeed, there are very few who could leave them off with any degree of comfort or grace. For awhile women rushed madly after health waists, but the corset dealers and makers report that far fewer substitutes for corsets are sold to-day than formerly. A garment like that becomes a fad, but soon goes out of vogue. Women aren't going to stop wearing the corset. They discard stays when exercising in a gymnasium or when playing field games, and many of them leave them off when awheel, but as for giving them up when 'dressed up,' few women are emancipated to that extent. True, the corsets of to-day are not so straight, stiff or heavy as formerly, and they are not worn so tight, but all the same they are still a very important part of a woman's wardrobe, and there is nothing in a well-constructed, loose, light corset that could possibly make anyone faint."

"Oh, pshaw!" exclaimed the doctor, impatiently. "I told you that fainting was out of style long ago. My opinion is that in 20 years, even in ten, very few women will be wearing stays. Bicycles and basket ball and hurdling and running and broad and high jumping will drive out whalebone and steel."

"I, for one, hope they will," said the college girl, as she drained her small cup of coffee.

"They won't, all the same, and if we live we shall see," remarked the matron, with equal earnestness.—N. Y. Sun.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

FOR WOMEN ONLY.

The Wife of a Well Known Citizen Gives Some Pointers to Middletown Ladies.

Nearly all our readers know where the studio of Mr. H. Osterhout the artistic photographer is and the majority of our citizens are aware that he lives at No. 13 Wickham avenue. Our representative called there the other day and in a pleasant interview with Mrs. Osterhout learned the following facts which we give in her own words. "About four years ago" she said, "I contracted kidney complaint. I had very severe pain in the small of my back. At times it was terrible. Every now and then during that period a recurrence took place. On some occasions the pain was terrible. I cannot describe it. It actually made me sick and forced me to give up. Besides suffering with my back I was greatly annoyed with a urinary difficulty. I tried many remedies and had physicians prescribe for me without obtaining any permanent. At last I tried Doan's Kidney Pills procuring them at J. E. Mills' drug store. They seemed suited to my case. I was not disappointed. I began to improve from the first and although I am adverse to newspaper notoriety you are at liberty to refer to me. There are a great many ladies in our city who have such complaints and although they have ample opportunity afforded them of reading about the wonderful cures, my individual testimony may strengthen the statements. They have been disappointed so often in remedies that they have become discouraged or grown so skeptical that they will hardly venture to try another. I honestly think that any woman suffering from kidney disorder will find the greatest benefit if she uses Doan's Kidney Pills."

A Valuable Prescription.

Editor Morriston, of Worthington, Ind., "Sun," writes: "You have a valuable prescription in Electric Bitters, and I can cheerfully recommend it for Constipation and Sick Headache, and as a general system tonic it has no equal." Mrs. Annie Stehle, 2625 Cottage Grove Ave., Chicago, was all run down, could not eat nor digest food, had a backache which never let her and felt tired and weary, but six bottles of Electric Bitters restored her health and renewed her strength. Prices 50 cents and $1.00. Get a Bottle at McMonagle & Rogers' Drug Store.

We are anxious to do a little good in this world and can think of no pleasanter or better way to do it than by recommending One Minute Cough Cure as a preventive of pneumonia, consumption and other serious lung troubles that follow neglected colds. W. D. Olney.

Young mothers dread the Summer months on account of the great mortality among children caused by bowel troubles. Perfect safety may be assured those who keep on hand DeWitt's Colic and Cholera cure, and administer it promptly. For cramps, bilious colic, dysentery and diarrhoea, it affords instant relief. W. D. Olney

When we consider that the intestines are about five times as long as the body we can realize the intense suffering experienced when they become inflamed. DeWitt's Colic and Cholera Cure subdues inflammation at once and completely relieves the difficulty. W. D. Olney.

Persons who have a coughing spell every night, on account of a tickling sensation in the throat, may overcome it at once by a dose of One Minute Cough Cure. W. D. Olney.

NO SUNDAY WORK.

Republican Headquarters To Be Closed on That Day During the Campaign.

Chicago, July 27.—Chairman Hanna of the republican national committee has given strict orders that no work shall be done, or even planned, on Sunday, and that the headquarters of the national committee shall be kept closed on that day during the campaign. The order went into effect yesterday. Several politicians who called to make engagements were surprised to hear Chairman Hanna's order and went away apparently disappointed, but Col. Heath, who is in charge of headquarters during the absence of the chairman, says the order will be strictly enforced.

TRAIN STRIKES BUGGY.

A Young Woman Instantly Killed and Her Escort Fatally Injured.

Lancaster, Pa., July 27.—A train on the Pennsylvania railroad struck a buggy containing a young man and woman at the crossing at Bird-in-hand yesterday. Barbara Hershey of Blackhorse was instantly killed and Enos Barge of Refton, her escort, had an arm cut off and is probably fatally injured. The horse was instantly killed. The young couple with their friends were returning from a party and were chatting with friends in a rear vehicle when struck by the locomotive. They are the children of wealthy farmers.

People's Party Active.

Paris, Ill., July 27.—The people's party of Edgar county, after putting a county ticket in the field Saturday, appointed a committee of five to call on A. J. Hunter, the democratic candidate for congress to induce him to withdraw and allow the people's party to put a candidate in his place. They made an effort to fuse with the democrats in making up a county ticket, but could not agree and placed one of their own party in the field instead.

Quiet Sunday at Gray Gables.

Buzzards Bay, Mass., July 17.—As is his usual custom, the president remained at home all day. There were no callers. He did not attend the memorial exercises of the late W. E. Russell at Sandwich, as expected. It has been reported by several seamen that the yacht Albatross, with Senator Hill on board has been seen cruising off the coast of Marion. The senator has not landed at that place, however, nor has he visited President Cleveland.

Dyspepsia, Gastritis and all stomach troubles where that great life-maintaining organ refuses to dispense nourishment to every part of the body, and the sufferer gradually wasting away and losing flesh daily, finally meets his death from the perforation of a gastric ulcer or dies by actual starvation, can be cured, as has been done time and again, by the use of that great blood enricher, flesh and muscle builder, and strength creator. Give the vital centres of the body strength to perform their regular functions and perfect health is a natural sequence. Dr. Louis Faust, of Schenectady, N. Y., says of Bovinine, "In the severest cases of gastritis the stomach will bear it. For one month my mother lived almost exclusively on it during such a sickness." Over 25000 physicians use and endorse it.

MONDAY, JULY 26, 1896.

For President.
WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN,
of Nebraska.
For Vice-President.
ARTHUR SEWALL,
of Maine.

William N. Dykman, a prominent lawyer of Brooklyn and the oldest son of Judge Jackson O. Dykman, whose term expires this year by the age limitation, has announced himself as a candidate for one of the Supreme Court judgeships to be filled, this fall.

Superintendent of Public Works Aldridge leads all other candidates for the Republican nomination for Governor in the number of delegates chosen in his interest. Lieut. Gov. Saxton is the only anti-machine candidate, who has made any headway, but he has only a handful of delegates. Odell's boom has not yet got under way.

The nomination of Watson for Vice President by the Populists complicates a very complicated political situation in many ways. The only means by which the Populist endorsement of Bryan can be made effective is for the Democrats and Populists to unite on electoral tickets in the different states, and the basis of representation will undoubtedly be the vote of the two parties at the last election. Should the Populist electors vote for Watson, the result might be, even if Bryan was elected, that there would be no choice of Vice President, and the election would then be thrown into the Senate and since, by the constitution, the choice of the Senate must be between the two candidates receiving the most electoral votes only the names of Hobart and Sewall would be before it.

McKinley's speech to the delegation of glass workers that called on him, Saturday, shows that he is oblivious to the history that has been made in this country since he was nominated and will not or cannot see that anything but the tariff is at issue in the campaign. Upon the subject of the tariff he talked the meaningless platitudes he has talked for years, coupling with them the assurance that if a Republican Congress is elected in November one of its first acts will be to put on the statute books a new tariff law. McKinley knows, or ought to know, that with the free silver Republican Senators blocking the way, there can be no tariff legislation without a free coinage rider, and the assurances that he gave the glass blowers of legislation in their interest were either the emptiest of campaign promises or an indirect admission that in his anxiety to secure the re-enactment of a high protective tariff he will accept such a bill, no matter if it comes loaded down with a free coinage provision.

DEATH DUE TO NATURAL CAUSES

The Death of a State Hospital Patient Investigated by the Coroner.

Coroner Decker was called upon, yesterday, to investigate the death of Bernard Lynch, who was brought to the State Hospital in this city on July 21, violently insane. He sank rapidly and died, Saturday afternoon. It was said that he became insane at his home in Saugerties, and that the policeman who was called to take charge of him struck him several times on the head with his club.

Drs. Kinney and Powelson held an autopsy, yesterday morning, but no fracture of the skull nor clot of blood was found on the brain, and they certified that death was due to natural causes.

A Runaway Team.

A team of horses belonging to J. H. Horton took fright at Crane & Swazey's at noon today, and with only the front wheels of the wagon ran through Main and Union streets to the Madison House where they were caught. There was much hurrying to escape them as they dashed through the street, and a woman riding on a wheel barely got out of their way.

Real Estate Sales.

Sale of a Wood Lot—City Boarders—No Building—Claim for Damages Settled—To Build a Summer Boarding House—The Axe Mightier Than the Pen—The Army Worm's Disappearance.

Correspondence of Argus and Messenger.

—M. A. Dodge has bought of Isaac Corgill, of Morton Hill, a fifty-three acre tract land which is heavily covered with hard wood, which will be cut and drawn to the acid factory. Consideration $200.

—James Mills is "Gum" Dodge's right bower since O. B. Wilson took a leave of absence.

—Dr. R. C. Tuttle has his house filled with city boarders.

—W. E. Tupper, who has been in the employ of Johnson & Albee as plumber, has been laid off on account of dullness in business, as there is no building being done in this place this summer.

—The town board of Rockland has settled with James Middlemast, of Lew Beach. Mr. Middlemast, it will be remembered, drove off the bank near Benj. Hardenburgh's last winter, with a load of railroad ties and was quite badly injured and had threatened to sue the town. He was paid $500.

—Some New York parties have bought a lot of John S. Ferdon and will erect a large summer boarding house. The work will be commenced about August 1st.

—David Lusey has moved up near Abner J. Bennett's, where he and L. W. Dodge, the former proprietor of the Roscoe and Rockland Review, have taken a contract to cut a large quantity of hard wood. Mr. Dodge evidently thinks the axe is mightier than the pen.

—Fred Henry, a Roscoe merchant, has taken in Hugh B. Petry, a stone dealer, as partner.

—The army worm that has made such havoc in this place of late has about ceased its destructive work and left for parts unknown. Still there are a few left to remind us of them.

Can't Eat

This is the complaint of thousands at this season. They have no appetite; food does not relish. They need the toning up of the stomach and digestive organs, which a course of Hood's Sarsaparilla will give them. It also purifies and enriches the blood, cures that distress after eating and internal misery only a dyspeptic can know, creates an appetite, overcomes that tired feeling and builds up and sustains the whole physical system. It so promptly and effectually relieves dyspeptic symptoms and cures nervous headaches, that it seems to have almost "a magic touch."

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

HINTS FOR THE HOUSEHOLD.

Some Things That Will Be Handy for the Housewife to Know.

Tumblers that have been used for milk should never be put into hot water until they have first been rinsed in cold water. The heat drives the milk in and gives a cloudy appearance to the glass which cannot be removed.

An easy way to remove spots of paint from glass is to make a strong solution of soda in hot water and wash the glass with a flannel dipped in this.

Mildew may be removed from cloth by rubbing the place discolored with soft soap and then covering it with chalk and putting it in strong sunlight.

Clothing that has become spotted and whose color has been destroyed by acids may have the color restored by applying ammonia and afterward chloroform.

A dressing table covered with crepe paper is a great addition to summer cottages, making the chambers look dainty and attractive. One may be easily made at home. Get a carpenter to make plain pine tables in kidney shape, half circles or oblong, sufficiently large for all the appointments of the toilet, and cover the top with cotton flannel or something equally thick. Tack a piece of cloth around the edge deep enough to come down half way to the floor. Sew to this a flounce of the crepe paper that will reach the floor. Cover the cotton flannel with the paper edge of the table, allowing a little heading to stand up and having it deep enough to overlap the lower flounce. The frame of the looking glass may be covered with the paper, and both table and glass require a liberal number of bows made of the paper and placed at every corner.

Now is the time to prepare your potpourri for the coming winter, for roses are at their best. It is not necessary to confine yourself to rose petals alone. Leaves of the rose geranium, mignonette, violet and lemon verbena may be added to the rose petals with the layers of fine salt and a few fragrant spices.

A violet perfume may be made easily by putting half an ounce of arrowroot, broken into small pieces, in a bottle with two ounces of alcohol. Cork tight and shake well. After it has been standing four or five days a few drops placed on a handkerchief will leave the odor of fresh violets.

It is said that water bugs dislike the cucumber, and if the peelings from cucumbers are kept in water and at night scattered around the pipes and the places where the bugs are seen after two or three nights the bugs will disappear. The plan is worth testing.—N. Y. Sun.

Are You Tired

All the time? This condition is a sure indication that your blood is not rich and nourishing as it ought to be and as it may be if you will take a few bottles of the great blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla. Thousands write that Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured them of that tired feeling by giving them rich, red blood.

Hood's Pills act easily and promptly on the liver and bowels. Cure sick headache.

HOME FROM THE STATE CAMP.

The 24th Welcomed by Large Crowds, Saturday Night—Unpleasant Weather Marred the Enjoyment that the "Boys" Might Have Had—All Glad to Get Home.

The 24th Separate Company arrived home, Saturday evening, on the Erie's Orange County Express. The band met the Company at James street depot and preceded it on its short march through James, Main, North and John streets to the Armory.

A large crowd of people greeted the "boys" with applause all along the line of march. Very little time was lost by the men in the armory, and in a very few minutes after arms had been stacked the men were scattered on their way to homes, glad to get back again to dry houses and beds.

Taken altogether the week was as unpleasant as could be imagined, as far as the weather was concerned. It rained every day except Thursday and Saturday, while Friday the downpour was so hard and steady that all drills and ceremonies had to be adandoned.

A pleasing feature of the last day in camp was the presentation of a sabre to Captain "Peggy" Thurston by the Provisional Battalion.

The idea emanated from a number of the 24th Separate Company and the other companies took it up with the result that a handsome sabre was purchased.

The Captain is not yet entitled to carry a sabre, but an election for the office of Major is to be held in the 22nd Regiment Armory, this evening, and there is very little doubt but that "Peggy" will be chosen.

The presentation was made immediately after breakfast, Saturday morning, by Captain Chase of the 5th Separate Company and the sabre was accepted by Captain Thurston, who spoke very pedingly and appropriately.

The only work the 24th was called upon to perform, Saturday, was the drill which was postponed from Friday, and the pleasant duty of drawing pay and the ceremony of receiving the incoming troops.

The departure from camp was tedious. At 1:30 o'clock the men fell in in heavy marching order and it was after 3:30 before the train was boarded for Fishkill. Here there was another wait of fifteen minutes for a ferryboat and another of ten minutes in Newburgh for the home train.

The 24th made an excellent record all week in every line of duty. The members on guard were all complimented by Col. Batts for their efficiency. The street was kept in the cleanest condition of any in camp and received honorable mention at headquarters.

The company and battalion drills were excellent and the inspectors of drills paid the 24th the compliment of leaving it alone after the first two days, while they devoted their attention to correcting the errors made by other companies.

Not a man was disciplined all week, nor was it necessary to send a man to the hospital as was the case with every other company in camp.

There was no little grumbling among the men, toward the latter part of the week, over the quality of the food furnished by Caterers Odell and Duncan, and on one occasion the attention of Col. Story, chief of the commissary department, was called to a platter of meat and he promptly ordered it off the table.

The men with scarcely an exception will say, to-day, that they are glad to get back home, but when the time for another tour rolls round they will all be just as anxious to go to camp again as they were a week ago.

A LIVELY RUNAWAY.

A Mustang's Wild Dash Through East Main Street.

A mustang attached to a delivery wagon owned by Dixon Bros., the Academy avenue grocers, had a lively runaway on East Main street, this morning. It started from in front of the store of J. C. Runyon & Son, just as the driver was about to alight from the wagon.

In front of Jacob Groh's furniture store the wagon collided with a farmer's milk wagon, and the horse, kicking itself free from the harness, continued its wild run down the East Main street hill to Academy avenue, where it slipped and fell, and was caught. It received several bad scratches, but was not seriously injured. The damage to the wagon was slight.

LOST ON THE MOUNTAIN.

A Little Child While Picking Berries on Sam's Point Strays Away from Her Mother—Hundreds Join in a Search for Her—Found After Three Days at a Farm House to Which She Had Made Her Way.

From Our Walker Valley Correspondent.

A child, lost on the mountain for three days, has given this village and the country roundabout the greatest excitement it has known since the Halliday murders, three years ago.

Mrs. John Scott, of this village, went to Sam's Point, Thursday, to pick huckleberries, taking with her her two children, a girl aged six and a boy about five. She kept the children with her for a time, but when they became tired left them to watch the berries she had picked, charging them particularly not to go far away. The girl, however, strayed away, and when the mother returned no trace of the child could be found. She searched for her for several hours and then, half crazed, came to this village and told of the child's disappearance. A searching party was organized, which spent the night on the mountain but found no trace of the child.

Friday, the half-frantic mother went to a fortune teller, Ann Crawford, who told her the girl had been carried away by two men living at Crawford, better known as the leather factory, and to that place Mrs. Scott hurried, only to find that no one had seen or heard of the child or the men described by the seeress.

Saturday, the search for the child was renewed and a large section of the mountain gone over without finding any trace of her, and the belief was general that she had fallen into a crevice in the rocks and been killed or rendered helpless. Some, however, clung to the theory that she had been kidnapped. Sunday morning, nearly a thousand people went to Sam's Point to hunt for the lost child. From Walker Valley, Crawford and Ellenville the people turned out with a determination to find the little one, and the mountain was covered from one end to the other, every nook, crook and crevice being carefully examined. About noon, the little one's bonnet was found at a point a considerable distance east of where she started from.

The finding of the bonnet not only encouraged the searchers, but gave them some idea of the direction in which to pursue their quest. On to the eastward the army of searchers went and when they came to the edge of the cliff, a shout went up and the lost was found, safe and sound at the farm house.

It seems that the child as she wandered along the mountain came to the edge of the cliff, and, seeing the cleared fields of a Mr. Doregan below, had reasoned that there she would find shelter and protection and made her way down the rocks and was picked up by Mr. Terwilliger, who lives just above Crawford.

The place where the child was found is three miles in a direct line from where she was left by her mother, but it is probable that the little one, in her wandrings, traveled a much greater distance.

AN EARLY MORNING FIRE.

Maier's Cigar Factory and Shoe Shop Badly Damaged.

The fire department was called out about 1:30 o'clock, this morning, to extinguish a blaze in George Maier's cigar factory at the corner of Railroad and Beattie avenues.

A lamp had been left burning in the drying room and it exploded. The cigar factory and the shoe shop of Oscar Maier adjoining, were badly damaged by fire and water. There is a slight insurance with Case & Taylor.

An O. and W. Employe Injured at Norwich.

James Green, of Norwich, an O. and W. employe, while crossing the tracks near the station, Friday afternoon, stepped out of the way of a train directly in front of a light engine, which knocked him down, crushing one of his feet badly. He was dragged from under the cowcatcher by bystanders who saw the accident and in this way his life was saved.

The Fire Record Broken.

Secretary Lorentz, of the Fire Department, is authority for the statement that seven fires occurred during the past month, and the record is therefore broken, the previous record for one month having been six fires.

INCIDENTS AND HAPPENINGS IN GOSHEN.

Middletown Singers at the Presbyterian Church—A Bicycle Causes a Runaway—Good Templars Elect Officers—Stamboul Shipped to Cornwall—Historical Sermon—A Woman With a "Jag"—Wednesday's Ball Game.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

—At the morning service in the Presbyterian Church, yesterday, Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Adams, of Middletown, assisted the choir. Mr. Adams sang a bass solo, followed by a duet with Mrs. Adams, a soprano. In the evening Mr. Robert Kelsey, of Oswego, rendered a tenor solo.

—A colt attached to a wagon in which Jerry Enright and Thos. Kane were riding became frightened by a passing bicyclist, who did not have his lantern lighted, Saturday evening, near the Court House. The horse shied to the right and collided with a wagon going in the opposite direction. Kane and Enright were pitched over the dashboard and considerably bruised. Their wagon was badly wrecked and the horse, which managed to break away, started for home. The other carriage was not much damaged. Had the bicyclist had his lamp lighted the accident would not have occurred. The need of a bicycle headlight is imperative after dark. Wheelmen should remember this and a village ordinance to that effect woul probably assist them to.

—Good Templars elected officers Saturday evening as follows:

C. T.—Daniel Conklin.
V. T.—Carrie Dorcans.
Secretary—Daniel Van Keuren.
Assistant Secretary—J. VanKleek.
Financial Secretary—Anna Barnes.

—Mr. and Mrs. Thad. Coleman and son spent Sunday at the residence of John M. H. Coleman.

—At St. James's Church, yesterday, Rev. Mr. Betts delivered an historical sermon concerning that church which was established in Goshen nearly one hundred years ago.

—A feminine "jag" from the Drowned Lands district made herself conspicuous on the streets of Goshen, Saturday evening.

HUNGARY'S POLYGLOT PEOPLE.

Nearly a Score of Distinct Races May Be Found in the Nation.

Hungary is the basin of the Danube and its tributaries, bounded in a semicircle by the Carpathian mountains. No other country of equal extent possesses the same physical unity. With very few exceptions, all rivers of Hungary flow, directly or indirectly, into the Danube, and in prehistoric times Hungary was, indeed, an immense lake, which, by crumbling masses from the Carpathians, has in the course of untold centuries been leveled up to a vast plain. This physical self-contentedness of the country designated it, as it were, for a proud and self-contented nation. Legion was the number of tribes and peoples pouring into Hungary through the passes of the north or the plains of the south from the time of Alexander of Macedon to that of Alfred of England. Gepides and Goths, Herules and Alans, Huns and Moravians, Servians and Ruthenians, and very many more land-seeking tribes, essayed to court the love of the inclyta Hungaria.

The Magyars alone, a Finnish Ugrian tribe, probably from central Asia, entering Hungary by the pass of Vereczke, in the northeast Carpathians, 1,000 years ago, have been able to wed themselves in good and lasting marriage to the country abounding in the treasures of a fertile soil, a varied surface and a benign climate. They alone founded a true nationality and a genuine state. The peoples inhabiting Hungary before the arrival of the Magyars were not so much conquered as relegated by them. They were, and always remained, what the stately law term of the Hungarian tripartitum (code of law) called them—regnicolae, dwellers, not citizens proper. As physically, so nationally, Hungary has always been a unit, not a union. Not every aggregate of people speaking the same language is a nation. True, from what we are pleased to call the ethnographic point of view, Hungary offers indeed a most picturesque spectacle of endless varieties of speech, costume, customs and folk-lore.

There are towns in Hungary, and small towns, too, where from seven to ten idioms are constantly being used. On the Galician frontier there is in a lovely valley the old town of Eperjes. The number of its inhabitants does not exceed 12,000. To this day the good people of Eperjes are in the habit of talking or being talked to in six different languages and several dialects. An ordinary household will include a Slovak man servant, a Hungarian coachman, a German cook and a Polish chambermaid. What is still more remarkable, each layer of society will tenaciously cling to its own language for centuries. A mile or two from Eperjes there are the famous salt mines of Saros. The Low Frisians, who were called there as settlers by the Hungarian kings over 500 years ago, still preserve their old Germanic dialect intact to the present day. The same phenomenon of polygot communities may be found in very many other towns of Hungary.—Nineteenth Century.

DOGS TRAIN ONE ANOTHER.

Learn Faster Under the Tutelage of Their Own Species Than by Man's Aid.

We all know how few and far between the good dogs are, whether good, bad or indifferent trainers have had them in hand. Not one out of a hundred is so well trained that he has sense of his own. It may be possible that we may be training our hunting dogs wrong. Those dogs that I trained perfectly had no sense of their own, and those that I half trained had more sense, were better bird finders, but each of them had some canine idiosyncrasy that brought him down below the level of the desirable dog.

The truth of the matter is that training deadens the dog's mind. It becomes automatic, and when a novel dilemma arises it has no reasoning faculties with which to meet the emergency.

I am half inclined to believe that the way to train a dog is to let him learn from his superiors—that is, from the best dogs possible. This is a slower process, but it excludes any sort of human interference. So far as my experience and observation have gone, it takes at least two years for an old dog to train or teach a young one. He learns in this manner to point, back, retrieve and range, and no other dog can range like the self-taught or dog-taught ranger. He goes like the wind and hunts for birds every minute, with an eye single to find them. To have a man teach a dog is like having a phonograph teach a child. The best dogs for hunting purposes are those which are thinkers.

Up in the Adirondack mountains pups are taught to run deer by turning them loose with an old hound. An old hunter likes to show the youngsters how to handle a gun accurately and carefully. The old hound delights in an opportunity to show the young ones how to find and follow a cold, warm or hot trail. There are dog-taught hounds in the Adirondacks that will follow a trail as well as any in the world.—Forest and Stream.

Female Missionaries in Uganda.

A missionary at Uganda, Africa, referring to the women recently sent out to that post by the Church Missionary society, says: "Their arrival caused great joy to the natives, especially to the women, and no small amount of comment. The waists of the English ladies attracted great attention. The natives instantly gave the ladies the name of 'slender-middled.' The king asked various cool questions—how old they were, etc.—and they told him. He then said, noticing their ample sleeves, that they must put all their food up their sleeves, as it evidently did not go inside."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

—The most astute of the sensational philosophers was John Locke, who found in the human mind all possibilities for its own development.

Dr. PIERCE'S Golden Medical DISCOVERY

Cures Ninety-eight per cent. of all cases of Consumption, in all its Earlier Stages.

Although by many believed to be incurable, there is the evidence of hundreds of living witnesses to the fact that, in all its earlier stages, consumption is a curable disease. Not every case, but a large percentage of cases, and we believe, fully 98 per cent. are cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, even after the disease has progressed so far as to induce repeated bleedings from the lungs, severe lingering cough with copious expectoration (including tubercular matter), great loss of flesh and extreme emaciation and weakness.

Do you doubt that hundreds of such cases reported to us as cured by "Golden Medical Discovery" were genuine cases of that dread and fatal disease? You need not take our word for it. They have, in nearly every instance, been so pronounced by the best and most experienced home physicians, who have no interest whatever in misrepresenting them, and who were often strongly prejudiced and advised against a trial of "Golden Medical Discovery," but who have been forced to confess that it surpasses, in curative power over this fatal malady, all other medicines with which they are acquainted. Nasty cod-liver oil and its filthy "emulsions" and mixtures, had been tried in nearly all these cases and had either utterly failed to benefit, or had only seemed to benefit a little for a short time. Extract of malt, whiskey, and various preparations of the hypophosphites had also been faithfully tried in vain.

The photographs of a large number of those cured of consumption, bronchitis, lingering coughs, asthma, chronic nasal catarrh, and kindred maladies, have been skillfully reproduced in a great Family Doctor Book of 1000 pages, giving names and addresses; sent on receipt of address and 21 cents in stamps to pay postage and wrapping only.

ARMY ORGANIZATIONS.

Maintained by the Armies of the Tennessee, Cumberland and Potomac.

Many of the larger armies of the civil war have special organizations, notably the Army of the Tennessee, the Army of the Cumberland and the Army of the Potomac. Of these the Society of the Army of the Tennessee was organized April 14, 1865, in Raleigh, N. C. It admits to membership "every officer who has served with honor in that army," and membership may descend to a son or daughter according to the expressed wishes of a member. The total membership is about 400. The society hold annual reunions; that of last year took place in Cincinnati. Gen. Sherman, the army's old commander, was president until his death in 1891, since when Gen. Greenville M. Dodge has filled the office. Through its influence statues have been erected to Gens. Rawlins and McPherson in Washington, and statues of Gens. Logan and Sherman are to follow.

GEN. GREENVILLE M. DODGE.

The Society of the Army of the Cumberland, says Munsey's Magazine, was organized in Cincinnati February 6, 1868. It admits to membership "every officer and soldier who has at any time served with honor in that army." The present membership is about 600. Annual meetings are held at which an address by some distinguished orator is the conspicuous feature. Statues to Gens. Thomas and Garfield have been raised in Washington through its efforts, and funds are being collected for a memorial to Gen. Sheridan. Its first president was Gen. Thomas. He was succeeded by Gen. Sheridan, on whose death the present incumbent, Gen. Rosecrans, was chosen.

The Society of the Army of the James was organized September 2, 1865, and Gen. Charles Devens, Jr., became its president. It held several reunions, and finally, in 1870, was merged into the Society of the Army of the Potomac, which body was organized on February 29, 1869, in New York. It admits to membership "every officer and enlisted man who has at any time served with honor in the Army of the Potomac." More than 2,000 names are on its rolls. Annual reunions are held, at each of which an oration and a poem form conspicuous features. At the meeting held in 1895 Gen. John Gibbon was the orator, and H. C. Bunner was the poet. The officers of the society include a president and a vice president for each of the nine corps, as well as one for the cavalry, one for the artillery and one for the staff. The first president was Gen. Sheridan, who has been followed by a brilliant galaxy of names, including Meade, Hooker, Burnside, Hancock, Sickles and Grant. Last year the late Gen. John Gibbon was elected to the presidency.

PRINCESS OF WALES.

She Has a New Dog Which She Considers a Rare Beauty.

There is no greater lover of dogs than her royal highness, the princess of Wales. Not only is she fond of them, but her highness is so well up in the quality of blooded dogs that she is an excellent judge of them.

Her highness visited the Holland house (London) dog show held recently. Among the animals exhibited was a litter of Schipperke puppies with their mother. The litter won the first prize, and their claim to distinction was indorsed by the princess, who purchased one of them.

SCHIPPERKE PUP "MISCHIEF."

The pup is called "Mischief," and is the pride of the family. He will no doubt become a very famous Schipperke, because the princess of Wales will exhibit him at the great dog shows in England. "Mischief" is expected to carry off many first prizes.

Manufacture of Diamonds.

Diamonds are now made by electricity. When carbon is melted or vaporized in the electric furnace and allowed to condense it does so in the form of graphite. When allowed to condense under great pressure, however, it condenses in the crystallized form of the diamond. This pressure is obtained by forming a solution of carbon in molten iron and allowing the iron to solidify suddenly, thereby bringing sufficient pressure upon the condensed carbon to crystallize the latter into diamonds. The diamonds made by this process are said to be so small that the cost of production is greater than their value.

Fire Burns Thirty-Eight Years.

There is a burning coal mine at Summit Hill, near the town of Mauch Chunk, Pa. The fire, which was started by a tiny accident, has raged in this mine since 1858, and all the trials at extinguishing it have failed.

AND BE HAPPY

In no dollar. Rent payers are always moving without getting ahead. Their motion is without progress. The landlord gets all the benefit of their labor. What's one's own is always better than anything that can be rented, and therefore rent payers necessarily pay fruitless prices for accommodations. You live best at home, but you must get a home before you can live there. At our prices and on our terms it's much easier to own a home than it is to pay rent. Just call on us and we'll prove it to your entire satisfaction.

Keep Up Your Scott's Emulsion in Summer-time

What are your resources for the summer? Have you an abundance of health stowed away for the long, hot, depleting days, or does summer find you low in vitality, run down, losing flesh, and weak? Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil will give you the proper reserve force, because it builds up the system on a solid foundation. A tonic may stimulate; Scott's Emulsion not only "boosts," it sustains.

It is a wise precaution always to have at least a small bottle of Scott's Emulsion in the house. Unopened, it will keep indefinitely. Tightly corked, after using, kept in a cool place, it will remain sweet for weeks.

Agents find it the Most Profitable Magazine.

Aside from these departments, the editorial and contributed features of the REVIEW OF REVIEWS are themselves equal in extent to a magazine. The Editor's "Progress of the World" is an invaluable chronicle of the happenings of the thirty days just past, with pictures on every page of the men and women who have made the history of the month.

The Literary World says: "We are deeply impressed from month to month with the value of the 'REVIEW OF REVIEWS,' which is a sort of Eiffel Tower for the survey of the whole field of periodical literature. And yet it has a mind and voice of its own, and speaks out with decision and sense on all public topics of the hour. It is a singular combination of the monthly magazine and the daily newspaper. It is daily in its freshness; it is monthly in its method. It is the world under a field glass."

A Different Kind.

"Sorry, I'm sure," smilingly chirped Mr. Bimley, as the man put the bill grumblingly back in his pocket, "but if you will call around in another month I think I can arrange it."

The man shook his head.

"I wish you was a chicken," he growled, backing down the steps.

"Inasmuch as to wherefore?" asked Mr. Bimley, as a momentary gleam of interest passed over his countenance.

"Becos' you would then shell out in three weeks," retorted the man, as he weariedly put one foot before the other, and so vanished from sight.—N. Y. Recorder.

Not Like Father's.

"These biscuits," said Mrs. Newoman, while her faithful husband looked half fearfully, "are not like the ones my father baked."

As she paused the poor man wiped his eyes with his apron.

"Now, his," she continued, "were heavy and insipid, while yours are perfectly delicious. Why, what's the matter, dear?"

The reaction was too great. The overjoyed husband had fainted.—N. Y. World.

Ice Cream Season Again.

"Will you marry me, darling?"

For a moment she hung her head in maiden bashfulness. Then she gathered courage to speak, though not to look at him.

"Do you love me for myself alone?" she asked.

He hesitated.

"I cannot deny," he said, truthfully, "that I am influenced by the money that I have put into you."—Chicago Tribune.

A Shock to Her Resolution.

"It's too bad," said the young woman who wants to be new.

"What's the trouble?" asked her mother.

"Just as soon as we've made up our minds to show the world that we are not the weak, timid creatures we have been pictured, the announcement comes that the trees are full of caterpillars this year."—Washington Star.

Wanted More Variety.

They paused before the cigar stand.

"And so you don't like Sniggers? Well, well. Why, I think him the best sort of a fellow. He's always the same. You know what he'll do in any case. There's no affectation about Sniggers. He's always himself—"

"Yes, that's what I object to."—Chicago Tribune.

Love's Duplicates.

I love you, love you, love you, dear,
More than my tongue can tell!
In all the land, both far and near,
There's none I love so well.
And though to others, now and then,
I say these words, 'tis true,
How can a fellow help it when
They so resemble you?
—L. A. W. Bulletin.

Didn't Starve.

"Well, Minnie, did you take good care of the animals during my absence?"

"Yes, my lady, excepting the cat, which I forgot to feed."

"I hope that didn't hurt her?"

"Oh, no; not at all—she helped herself to the parrot and the canary bird."—Fliegende Blaetter.

Why Is It.

If catarrh is a constitutional affection, as those claim who have a blood tonic to sell, that physicians in extreme cases, frequently advise change of air and climate to those suffering from it? Catarrh is a climatic affection, and nothing but a local remedy or a change of climate cures it. Ely's Cream, in all cases of catarrh, is so efficient as to do away with the necessity of leaving home and friends, causing instant relief and a perfect cure after short continuance.

FOR BRYAN AND SEWALL.

MIDDLETOWN DEMOCRATS HOLD A ROUSING RATIFICATION MEETING.

The Casino Crowded by an Enthusiastic Audience, Saturday Night—Strong Addresses by Messrs. Taylor, O'Neill and Merrill and Dr. Gilson.

The Democrats and those Republicans who believe in restoring silver to its place in the currency of the country ratified the nominations of Bryan and Sewall at the Casino, Saturday evening. The building was crowded to its doors, hundreds being unable to secure seats. There was considerable enthusiasm manifested as telling points were made by the speakers. The gathering was a quiet and orderly meeting of citizens who had come with a serious purpose at heart to hear discussed the issue that overshadows all others and not as is often the case in Presidential campaigns to shout for the party nominees on the one side or disturb or ridicule the speakers on the other. It was a much larger gathering of representative citizens than is often found at political meetings in this city when the campaign is at its height and speaks well for the voters of Middletown who are seeking information upon an all important subject. While the crowd was made up mostly of voters there were a number of ladies present.

The meeting was presided over by J. C. R. Taylor, Esq., who spoke briefly. He said he regarded this as a citizens' meeting rather than a political gathering, for he recognized a very large number of Republicans present, many of whom he had reason to know would vote for Bryan and Sewall, who stand upon a platform which represent principles they had long sought.

Mr. Taylor confessed that he was a recent convert to bimetalism. He had accepted the declaration of party leaders in favor of a single gold standard until he began to think for himself, when a new light dawned upon him and he realized the injustice of demonetization of silver. He did not fear the result if the people will make a study of the financial question and vote according to their judgment.

MR. O'NEILL'S ADDRESS.

W. F. O'Neill, Esq., was introduced, and congratulated the audience on behalf of the great Democratic party upon the splendid gathering of the citizens. He regarded this as a most momentous contest—one of principles against the amassed wealth of the country that is trying to crush out the farmers as well as the workers in other walks of life. This movement comes from the west, and all kinds of epithets are hurled at those identified with it. "You may call these people of the great west anarchists, repudiators or what you will, but you must remember it was the great northwest that forced the nomination of Lincoln in 1860, and the same anarchists and repudiators forced the nomination of Grover Cleveland in 1892. We heard nothing in either of those periods of anarchists or repudiators, and there should be nothing of the kind now."

The speaker then addressed himself to weak kneed Democrats who did not approve of certain features of the platform. He said if there is anything wrong a Democrat can be more useful in righting it within the party than without.

Speaking of the platform he defied the readers to find a clause that savors of a declaration in favor of dissolving the Supreme Court, of repudiation or of disloyalty to our constitution. The platform did refer to the decision of the court in the income tax case, and declared it was of far reaching importance and should be reversed by a subsequent decision.

But to bring about such a change would require an amendment to the constitution of the United States.

The money question is the greatest one before the people. It was in the interests of the masses of the people and the Democratic party is the party of the masses, and it is fitting, therefore, that it should favor such a measure. It is not a question of restoration to the people what they enjoyed for eighty-seven years until the Republican party demonetized silver.

Reference in the platform to Cuba and the farmers organizing the Grange or veterans on pensions could not be objected to, nor could that which declares for a tariff for revenue with such incidental protection as may be necessary to meet the necessities of the government economically administered. The clause to refer to Federal interference within the states is Democratic and a principle old as the party itself.

The choice for Bryan's age, he said, takes us back to the constitution and the Democratic party is a constitutional party. The constitution placed the age at which citizens is eligible to the Presidency at thirty-five years and Bryan is more than thirty-six. He reverted to the late Governor Russel who served two terms as the chief magistrate of the great commonwealth of Massachusetts before he was thirty-three years of age and was one of the best governors the state ever had.

Mr. O'Neill read a statement from an ex-mayor and banker of London, who said when silver was demonetized that it meant eventually the ruin of the wheat and cotton business of America, and that India would be the great exporter of cotton and what at last the result would surely come.

The Democratic party does not intend to destroy property rights, and he would not approve it if it did. It means to restore the money of the fathers under which the country prospered for eighty-seven years. When silver was demonetized a terrible panic followed and we have been having them at intervals ever since. We have tried McKinleyism and it failed to give relief, for we went down under another panic in 1893, when the McKinley law was in full operation.

Our country needs a vast volume of money to transact its business. We do not sit down upon our money but use it in forwarding business enterprises. When you cut in two our circulating medium panic and depression naturally follow. "Are we repudiators because we ask for more money in our business? We are not going to wait for England or other slow going countries to make a move towards the remonetization of of silver.

E. S. MERRILL'S ADDRESS.

E. S. Merrill, Esq., was next introduced. He said the Republicans had but one issue, the tariff and that had been tried by both parties and found wanting. It would not heal the distress under which the country is now suffering.

He said some Republicans left their national convention because it would not espouse their principles and they are acting with the Democrats. Democrats did not leave the Chicago Convention but some of them should have done so and alligned themselves with McKinley. He referred to Whitney's complaint that the Republican managers are not using the gold Democrats right. "Did you ever hear such a thing from a Democrat? He hears the Republicans are sleeping and that the Democrats will win."

He thanked God for the issues of this campaign. For years the parties have been fighting for the offices, without a single issue but the tariff.

The platform declaration of a ratio of 16 to 1 is not a law. If the party is successful it will remain for congress to fix a proper ratio if this is not a just one. He believed there is just as much honor and loyalty in the Democratic party as there ever was and it may be trusted to adjust the financial question properly.

He said the fact that the Republicans are calling Democrats hard names is proof that they have no argument.

Mr. Merrill said he had been a great deal among the farmers and mechanics in this and neighboring counties and he knew there would be some surprises when the votes are counted. The gains will be much more than the losses. Whitney sees it and has sounded a warning to the McKinley managers.

DR. GILSON'S ADDRESS.

Dr. T. S. Gilson was introduced and surprised many people who did not know that he was gifted with oratory as well as skill in the healing art.

He spoke of the gravity of the question at issue, the solution of which will affect the prosperity of the country. The Democratic party stands, to-day, where it always has stood,—for a "government of the people, by the people, for the people" in contradistinction to the Republican party, which stands for a government of the people, by the few, for the benefit of the few.

Every four years we are told the country will go to smash if we don't have a higher tariff, but the highest tariff we have had precipitated a great panic. McKinley has been tried and found wanting. He twice bankrupted the great State of Ohio, and it was his tariff law that brought the panic of '93 and the hard times that have followed. The policy of monometalism now advocated by Republicans, may do for the classes it is designed to benefit but not for the masses. It means contraction of the currency which means national ruin. There is plenty of money but it is locked up in vaults. Not more than $5 per capita is in circulation. Silver was all right enough for eighty-one years and was at a premium over gold when it was demonetized, for a reason that no one can or will tell. Why is it not all right to have bimetallism now?

Garfield, Arthur and Blaine favored bimetallism and bimetallism, but now the party that honored them wants high tariff and monometalism to build up trusts and combinations of capitalists and grind down the poor man. We should not wait for England to tell us what money we should use; we are able to settle that question for ourselves. There is no time like our own interests at stake in this campaign; posterity will prosper or suffer by our action at the polls next November.

It is noteworthy that all of the speakers advised their hearers to give the money question as much thought and study as possible, and vote according to their judgment.

The meeting closed with three rousing cheers for Bryan and Sewall.

MAY HAVE A SILK FACTORY.

Port Jervis Considering the Proposition of a Manufacturer.

Port Jervis is much elated over the prospect of the establishment of a silk factory in that village that will employ one hundred hands at the start. It is understood that the "inducements" desired are not unreasonable as the proposition says he is able to build and equip his own mills. A meeting of citizens will be held this evening to hear what the manufacturer has to say.

When Middletown has more and better water it will stand a show to compete with other localities for manufacturing enterprises.

THE A. L. OF H. AND K. OF H.

Dissatisfaction Among the Members of Both Orders—Extra Assessments and Change of Plans the Cause.

There is much dissatisfaction among members of the American Legion of Honor in this city, as well as in New York, Brooklyn and elsewhere over the announcement that the assessments for August and September are to be doubled, to meet unusual death losses. One cause of this dissatisfaction is that a reserve fund of half a million dollars has been collected from members to meet just such an emergency as this and until the present year the order has been paying its members a dividend upon this reserve fund.

In New York and Brooklyn there is strong talk of the State of New York seceding from the national body as it contributes each year a much larger sum in assessments than it receives in death claims. In fact nearly one half of the membership is in this State.

The Knights of Honor also have a grievance. Until now all members of the order between the ages of twenty-one and forty-five were assessed one dollar each and those who had passed the latter age were assessed under graded schedules according to age. The Supreme Lodge has, however, adopted a graded system of assessments by which all assessments will increase each year and members will be assessed to pay the death claims of those of their own age, thus making a separate class for each year. Those who joined the order prior to 1892 who decline to accept this system of assessment, may, however, pay as heretofore assessed, their assessments to be used to pay death claims in their own class.

The effect of either of these plans is to increase individual assessments as members grow older and their ranks become thinned as they have none of the benefits of an increased membership, which is relied upon to keep down the assessments.

Both of these orders have done a vast amount of good and with proper management should continue to do so, but it looks very much as if a new deal should be made by which new blood could be introduced into the management. The same set of men have controlled both of these and several similar orders since they were started.
